What is a Split System HVAC? | Lennox Residential Glossary: A Split System HVAC is heating and cooling system that includes an indoor unit, outdoor unit and a thermostat.

What is a Split Air Conditioner? Split vs Packaged AC Units

The easiest way to tell if you have a split air conditioning system is to see if you have two parts to your air conditioner. If you have one part inside, either in the attic or in a closet, then you have a split AC unit. If your air conditioner has only one piece (that is typically on the roof), and a piece of ductwork going into the roof, then you have a packaged unit.

What is a Split Air Conditioner System? - Network

What is a Split Air Conditioner System? Everyone likes to come home to a refreshingly cool house in the summertime heat and humidity. However, central air conditioning is expensive, while window units are noisy and bulky. If you're looking for an affordable, unobtrusive way to bring more cool air into your home, a split air conditioner system might be the perfect answer.

What Is a Split System | Frigidaire HVAC

Your split system heat pump has the same outdoor component and indoor component as the split system air conditioner but it is able to reverse the air conditioning process to provide heating power throughout your home. This multi-functioning capability makes it more expensive than an air conditioner. There are also dual-fuel options available to residents of Midwestern states that combine a heat pump with a gas furnace. These systems come in package or split.
